WIRELESS INTERNET ACCESS FOR COURT USERS

The Superior Court of California, County of Solano, is pleased to announce that free Wireless Fidelity (Wi-Fi) access or "Hot Spot" is now available at all three court locations, in Fairfield and in Vallejo.

The Court is one of 17 courts in the state participating in this wireless Internet project, funded by the state Administrative Office of the Courts (AOC). The multi-phased project is now complete, resulting in free wireless Internet access at the following court locations: Hall of Justice, 600 Union Avenue, Fairfield, Law and Justice Center, 530 Union Avenue, Fairfield, and the Solano Justice Building, 321 Tuolumne, Vallejo.

Wireless Internet access will provide the public, prospective jurors, attorneys, and members of law enforcement agencies with the ability to access the Internet, check e-mail, download files for court, or view the Court's website for immediate access to court information.

Adam Creiglow, the Court's IT Manager, remarked, "We are pleased to now provide wireless access at our three courthouses for jurors, attorneys, and justice partners with the ability to utilize the great resource that is the Internet."
